NEW CONGRESS TO PASS AND HARDING
O.K. FORDNEY BILL

Going to Become Law Just as Wilson Vetoes It, but Limit Is Six Months.

PROGRAMME IS SETTLED

Tariff Measures to Be Put Ahead of Home Taxation and Both to Be Rushed.

TEAM WORK IS ASSURED

Anti-Dumping and American Market Valuations of Imports Are Agreed Upon.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
New York Herald Bureau.
Washington, D. C., March 21.

Preference will be given to all tariff legislation over the problem of revision of the internal tax laws in the new Congress, according to a programme approved to-day by President Harding and members of the Senate Finance Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee.

The Fordney emergency tariff bill on farm products which was blocked by the veto of President Wilson last session was placed in the preferred position at the head of the list of legislation that must be considered at the special session. Announcement of the plan was made by the House Ways and Means Committee in open session. The programme calls for the following legislation in the order named:

An anti-dumping bill.
A measure providing that import duties shall be based on the American and not the foreign value of the products.

Permanent revision of the tariff laws.
Permanent revision of the tax laws.
The decision to make another attempt to pass the Fordney bill on farm products was unexpected. The measure was a storm centre in the last Congress. According to present plans the bill will be passed just as it was vetoed by President Wilson with the exception that instead of being limited to one year its life will be cut down to six months or until a permanent tariff bill can be put on the statute books.

Harding Indicates Approval.

The agreement on the programme was reached after the President in a telephone conversation with Representative Fordney, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, had stated that he would not object to the emergency measure. It was expected the bill would meet with the President's approval.

Senator Penrose (Pa.), after conference with House leaders, expressed the opinion that the emergency bill could be passed without amendment. He does not believe opposition to it is so great as when it previously was considered and indicated that it might be possible to force the measure through the Senate by a cloture rule. A rule easily can be adopted in the House which will prevent amendments.

The agreement was reached after Harding and the Republicans had gone into all conflicting questions involved as to what legislation should have precedence. In a session of the House Ways and Means Committee this afternoon it was announced that all the Republicans of the Senate Finance and the House Ways and Means committees had agreed to abide by the programme in the hope of passing the necessary legislation in a much more prompt manner than ever before.

Although various members have had conflicting views there is apparently a desire for thorough cooperation in the future with the realization that all legislation can be passed sooner by team work than by pulling in opposite directions.

Tariff Plan Is a Compromise.

The President, it is known, was of the opinion that revision should be undertaken at the earliest possible date and ahead of permanent tariff revision, but realizing the sentiment in Congress for prompt action on the tariff, he apparently has agreed to a compromise.

This compromise is that while the House is considering tariff legislation—the emergency, the anti-dumping, the American valuation and the permanent bills—the Senate Finance Committee will hold hearings on revision of the tax laws, including the sales tax proposals. As soon as the tariff bills are passed by the House the Ways and Means Committee will start revision of the tax laws without further hearings, but using the hearings of the Senate Finance Committee as the basis for action. This, it is expected, will greatly expedite matters.

Work of framing the permanent tariff bill will be started by the House Ways and Means Committee to-morrow. This will be the actual writing of the bill, as hearings were held during the last session. Mr. Fordney expressed the opinion that the work of writing the anti-dumping, the American valuation and the emergency tariff bills would require little time, and that a permanent tariff bill could be completed in six weeks.

Senator Penrose is confident that the programme will be carried out as approved to-day. He said that Republican leaders are anxious to work harmoniously, but he warned that dissenters could be disciplined.

BLUE LAWS AND TOBACCO
NO PART OF W. C. T. U. DRIVE

Activities Are Directed at Obtaining One Million New Members, Not at Interfering With the People's Pleasures, Says Publicity Director.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
CHICAGO, March 21.—The widely heralded drive against My Lady Nicotine, a campaign for the strict observance of the Sabbath which, according to despatches was to have been inaugurated by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is not to be.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union has no intention of starting a drive for a "Blue Sunday." The organization has no activities directed against the use of tobacco by adults, and it contemplates no drive for blue laws or against the use of tobacco by adults in the future. The only drive in which the organization is interested or engaged is that for increasing its membership to 1,000,000.

These statements were made with great emphasis at the national headquarters of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union by Miss B. R. Bowman, the union's publicity director, who acted as spokesman in the absence of the president, Miss Anna A. Gordon, who is in New York preparing to sail for South America, where she will visit various branches of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

"We are deeply incensed that a story has been sent broadcast throughout the country that the W. C. T. U. plans a drive for a Blue Sunday," declared Miss Bowman. "Nothing is farther from the truth. It seems as if this story was put out by our enemies to thwart our efforts to increase the membership of the union to 1,000,000."

"This membership campaign, which we call the jubilee, was launched on March 1 of this year. And this campaign is the only drive we have on or contemplate. The only literature we are sending out is a leaflet setting forth the purposes of the union and its contemplated activities as an aid to enlarging the union, and a poster with the slogan 'Mobilize 1,000,000 members.'"

"We shall as always, work for worldwide prohibition. And we shall also continue the teaching of children as to the injuries to health caused by the use of tobacco—just as we do of the use of alcohol. But adults are not affected by our anti-tobacco work. Our whole aim is to make people better Christians—not to interfere with their lives and pleasures."

NORFOLK SCHOOL BURNS; PUPIL AND INSTRUCTOR KILLED IN AIR ACCIDENT

Witness Says Boys Urged Him to 'Let It Burn.'

NORFOLK, Va., March 21.—The John Marshall public school, containing twenty-eight rooms and valued at $200,000, was destroyed by fire late to-day, a short time after the 1,000 pupils had been dismissed for the day. Only the teachers and a few children were in the building when the alarm was sounded, and all escaped safely. Five residences on an adjoining street were damaged by the leaping flames.

Boys are believed by the police to have been responsible for the fire, and an investigation that may lead to arrests was being conducted to-night. The police were informed by Charles Dreyfus, who gave the alarm, that he had noticed smoke coming from the basement, and upon going to investigate had found two boys standing before a bundle of burning rags and papers.

When he started to trample out the blaze, Dreyfus, in his statement to the police, said the boys pleaded with him to let it burn so they would not have to go back to school.

PHILADELPHIA, March 21.—Peter D. Treadway, who was convicted of murder in the second degree on Saturday for the killing of Henry T. Faber, manufacturer sales agent, here last November, was to-day sentenced to serve from nineteen years six months to twenty years.

REVIVES RIVER TRAFFIC.

CINCINNATI, March 21.—The steamer Queen City began its second voyage to New Orleans to-day in the effort to revive traffic on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 21.—Attempting a landing from too low an altitude, Lee Robert of this city and J. H. Farrington of Saranac Lake were killed here to-day. Their seaplane struck the earth within twenty feet of the water and safety.

Robert, who was driving the plane, became confused and lost control of the machine as it neared the earth, according to those who witnessed the accident.

Farrington, who was acting as Robert's instructor, realizing the danger, jumped and was crushed to death. Robert was killed when the plane struck on its side.

MINE FATALITIES REDUCED.
Lowest Rate Reached in 1920 Despite Increased Production.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—A fatality rate of 3.59 for every million tons of coal mined in 1920, as compared with 4.24 in 1919, was announced by the Bureau of Mines to-day. This was said to be the lowest rate in the history of the industry in this country.

A total of 2,286 men were killed in the coal mines last year, a decrease of fifty-seven over the preceding year, while at the same time production of coal increased 18 per cent. over 1919.

Preliminary reports indicate that production of coal in 1920 amounted to 645,683,000 tons. The number of employees mining coal in 1920 was 775,000, as compared with 765,000 the preceding year.

VIVIANI WILL GET HEARTY WELCOME

Administration Will Have Open Mind on Any Proposal He May Make.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
New York Herald Bureau.
Washington, D. C., March 21.

Former Premier Viviani of France will receive a hearty welcome to the United States. He will be met at New York by Robert Woodruff, Third Assistant Secretary of State, who will extend the official greeting of the United States Government.

Special preparations indicate the open-mindedness of the Administration to any suggestion that may be made concerning the vexing questions that prevent full and complete understanding between America and the allied Powers.

Keen interest is taken here in the Paris press discussions concerning the object of the visit of M. Viviani. It is regarded as a happy augury of M. Viviani's visit that the Paris press is urging the special envoy not to fall into the pitfall of urging acceptance of the league covenant. It is believed this attitude indicates that publicists in France are coming to realize that the American people remain in a friendly attitude toward France, but are determined that even this friendship will not beguile them into making an arrangement which will barter away their own national initiative.

While State Department officials are reticent, it is clear that any proposal to make a concession here and there which will not meet the American objection to the spirit of the league as now formed will doom the Viviani mission to failure.

It is also clear that the men who will speak for America will expect recognition of America's right as one of the victors over Germany before entering into any negotiations relative to future relations.

It also develops that in dealing with the foreign situation the regular Ambassadors of the allied powers will be the real spokesmen. While M. Viviani is expected to prepare the way for negotiations it is assumed they will be conducted to a conclusion by Ambassador Jusserand and that Ambassador Geddes will speak for Great Britain.
